

The Christmas Underwear Thief
By
Logan MacBride

It was a cold dark day before Christmas Eve in Aberdeen. A guy named Jeffrey Clinton was looking forward to Santa coming even though he is twenty-seven years old. He got into bed with his teddy bear which is kind of strange. The next day Jeffrey woke up and he said 'What happened to my underwear'?? Jeffrey's underwear was stolen. He said 'How am I meant to go to work?' By the way Jeffrey works in a lab. Jeffrey had to go to work with trousers but no underwear!

He jumped on the bus at Union Street. When he got on the bus he realised he was wearing his itchy trousers. Jeffrey had an itchy butt. Jeffrey was in work and he was rubbing his butt up against the table. When he was doing that he set off a chemical reaction. Then that chemical reaction made raspberry flavoured custard. On Christmas day he woke up and under his Christmas tree were twenty five pairs of underwear.