Age	13 – 19 years
Admission	Free but booking essential, phone 01-4620073

Ever read a story, play or poem and thought – ‘I could do better than that!’ Well now’s your chance. Join popular author Claire Hennessy at her Creative Writing workshop and see just how good you are. Book early as places will fill up fast!

Claire Hennessy is the author of several teenage books including her first, Dear Diary. Claire is currently working on her tenth novel. She likes drinking tea (milk, no sugar), reading books (and occasionally reviewing them), children’s and young adult fiction, history, feminism, gifted education, yoga, TV shows on DVD, musicals, comedy, chocolate, and reading books (so much so that it necessitates a second mention). You can find her on Facebook and Twitter.

GRAPHIC ART WORKSHOP WITH MAEVE CLANCY

Where	Apple Mac Lab, Rua Red County Arts Centre Tallaght (beside County Library)
When	Saturday 19th November @ 10am – 4pm
Age	13 – 19 years
Admission	Free but booking essential Phone 01-4620073

Learn how to create comics from concept to the printed page in this one day intensive workshop with comic artist and writer Maeve Clancy. In the first half of the day, participants will write a simple story, design characters, illustrate backgrounds and format the work into a comic. From these paper workings, the afternoon will involve scanning, digital colouring and the addition of text and speech bubbles at the Apple Mac Lab in Rua Red. Each participant leaves with a printout of their comic and a digital version which they can print, email or post on their Facebook and Bebo pages.

Maeve Clancy is a Dublin-based artist and writer. She produces comics, illustration and animation in a variety of ways including cut paper, paint and pop-up. A selection of episodes from her weekly comic Flatmates was published as part of the Sequences series by the Verbal Arts Centre 2D Comics Festival in 2010. She is currently working on Inheritance, a graphic novel set in Dublin and Berlin. Her recent travelogue A Hibernian in Hellas detailed her experiences in Greece in the summer of 2011.
